August Specials—Angel Messages and Gifts

Connect With Your Pets' Angels

Yes, our beloved animals have guardian angels just as do our souls. The nature angels are fairies, and they are real and powerful helpers like our angels.

Just as our angels want to help us with all our earthly concerns, so do our pets' angels. You can call on them to help you communicate with your fur children or wildlife, to assist with medical and behavioral issues, and to help them return to their non-physical form when it is time for to return home along with our loved ones.

The fairies are also able to help you connect with pets who have left their vessels. Animals' souls are infinite and pure radiant love.

Look for opportunities to connect with your pet and their angels when your animal is relaxed and it is quiet. You can express your concerns and desires silently or out loud. State what you desire, not what you fear. If you are asking for guidance, ask the fairies for clear and loud signs in the physical world you can easily recognize.

If you are asking for help communicating with an animal, be aware their messages are typically short and to the point. Because animals have no egos, they know no self-imposed limits that humans do. Without the chattering ego, communication is pretty easy with them provided you can get and maintain their attention. You may see pictures, have feelings or hear a voice. Trust what you receive and take any action steps.

Natures' angels follow the Creator's law of free-will and look to our purest intentions and ensure they are in alignment with God's will and law. The fairies are delighted to work with you and your furry loved ones, regardless of your beliefs. All they ask is a respect for nature and a loving heart.

Archangel Michael's Message to the Fighters

There are so many battles and wars against this and that. While change often comes with an uprising, that uprising does not have to be negative or combative.

Your fights weaken you as they drain your energy and put you into the role of being a victim, feeling angry and downtrodden. Instead of picking your battles, pick your causes. For instance, instead of complaining about a politician and feeling angry, get behind a politician who shares your passion and concerns.

When you are for something, you have positive energy and are moving in a desired direction. You will attract positive experiences and people into your life with this attitude.

In turn, when you are against something, you exude negativity such as anger and blaming, and you will attract those experiences.

The law of attraction is so simple and is constantly at play. Be aware of what you are focusing on, how you are spending your time and what you are thinking and saying. Being aware is the first step in becoming a conscious creator. It is easy to begin, and we angels stand ready to aid you with your causes. We await your invitation.

In-Person Readings and Upcoming New Services

Angel Therapist® Kelly Patterson is returning to Mountain Menagerie in Central City, Colorado for in-person readings. Times for this new/old location are at the top of the appointments page on Kelly's website. You can book a private angel reading with Kelly from this page.

Other upcoming new services include:

- Recorded classes on topics the angels identify to help you heal old wounds and open yourself to deeper and richer experiences and relationships.
- The refer a friend program. If you love sharing angel connections and free readings, this referral program is for you.
