December Specials—Angel Messages and Gifts

Discovering the Ascended Masters

Another group of divine helpers are the ascended masters. This group of beings includes an enormous collection of divinities, gods, goddesses, deities, and devas from many religions and cultures.

Unlike the majority of the archangels, many ascended masters have had the human experience as prophets, teachers and healers. Jesus, Saint Francis, Buddha and Moses are just a few of these masters.

Like the angels, your religion (if any) makes no difference to the ascended masters. What is important and what they see are your true intentions and your openness to ask for and allow help.

Many masters have a particular area of expertise. For instance, Saint Francis is a great helper to our animal friends and the humans who love them; the goddess Aphrodite is known for assisting with romantic issues including marriage and commitment.

Ascended masters often appear during readings along with your guardian angels, Archangels and other loved ones. They are happy to help you with any issue that will give you peace. Like other divine helpers and you, they are part of our Creator and it is safe to work with them.

Manifesting With Gratitude: Angel Guidance

If you are frustrated why something or someone hasn't shown up yet, or you don't like what is manifesting in your life, the angels ask: Where is your focus?

Asking why isn't it here yet? why isn't it happening? brings your focus on lack, despair and fear—all beliefs and emotions which disconnect you from God/Higher Power. It is a lack of faith that allows fear to get a grip on you and can paralyze you. It is only natural to experience uncomfortable emotions and to have fear and doubt. This is part of your human experience. How much you indulge and the degree of these emotions are totally your free will.

Being grateful puts your focus on joy, love and appreciation for good in your life. If you have difficulty finding things to be grateful for, look to others who do not enjoy the luxuries you take for granted. There is much to be thankful for!

Monitor your thoughts and spoken word to determine if you are operating from fear or from love. What is it that you want to experience? Check your thoughts, feelings and physical body? Are they reflecting what you want to experience? If not, what can you do to experience what you desire?

Positive affirmations and thoughts are powerful nutrients in your "garden" as you grow what you want to experience. Actions must match these affirmations. For instance, if you affirm "I am vibrantly healthy," "I love my body," and then eat foods or ingest chemicals your body doesn't tolerate, you cannot experience the physical well being and vibrancy you desire. Your desire is out of balance with your actions.

As you enter this new year, be conscious of all your blessings and be diligent in your efforts to grow and experience that which brings you joy.
