Spring Clearing With Archangel Jophiel

Spring is the perfect time to clear out clutter, unwanted items and old outdated behaviors. Archangel Jophiel, the angel of beauty, can be your coach in releasing the old and replacing it with your new loving and supportive ways of living.

Known as the archangel of art and beauty, Jophiel’s name means “beauty of God.” She works with artists and creators of beauty, as well as all the appreciators of beauty.

Jophiel’s color is a deep rose pink, and her associated crystals are rubellite or deep pink tourmaline. She is associated with the Libra astrological sign.

Archangel Jophiel helps to clear spaces and is known as the Feng Shui angel. Clearing your space(s) is a powerful freeing act and one that the angels frequently recommend during readings.

In addition to her “housekeeping” talents, Jophiel is a master at helping us find beauty, whether it is in our thoughts, our actions and/or our surroundings.

Jophiel is a wonderful angel to work with if you are wanting to have more positive experiences. You can ask Jophiel to “hold” old negative thoughts, patterns and/or doubts” while you practice your new ways. Ask her to help direct your focus on what is pleasing, to notice and appreciate the beauty that surrounds you. You are what you think so when you are focusing on beauty, you are beautiful as well. You will attract good and more to appreciate.

Incorporate Archangel Jophiel into your daily routine by inviting her each morning to work with you throughout the day keeping you and your spaces clear, bright and positive. You will be amazed by the clarity, energy and beauty you experience in many wonderful and unexpected ways.

Angel Wisdom: Do You Have Room?

The Divine hears many, many requests for new “things.” These items may include a partner, a child, a new home, a healthier body, greater peace and more financial abundance. In order for new people/situations to arrive, you must allow, there must be “room” for the new.

To make room, there must be a vacancy. For peaceful thoughts to maintain a residence in your mind, the negative, stressful and anxious thoughts must go. For a healthier body, what’s not healthy must leave. To allow people and situations into your life, there must be time. If you are too busy working, how will you find time to nurture a relationship or a new life?

To manifest a desire, it first begins with an intention—what do you want. Next, your thoughts focus on that desire. You allow or create space for the desire. There is a commitment to the desire and a belief in it. Finally, there are action steps to bring it into your life.

What are blocks to allowing/creating that vacancy for your desire to show up? Most often are beliefs that conflict with the desire. For example, if you don’t believe people are trustworthy, you will block new relationships. After all, you believe trust is impossible and you must protect yourself. This belief manifests into action of ignoring signs for potential friendships, refusing invitations, and isolating with your mistrust.

Muddy intentions are also wonderful saboteurs. Perhaps you’re not completely sure what you want, or you’ve based a desire on someone else’s intention. For example, you’re working in a career that a loved one selected for you because it pays well. You are not invested at all in the career; you didn’t even select it. Is it any wonder it is devoid of joy or purpose?

Feelings of unworthiness created by guilt and shame are also enormous blocks to receiving. Example: You don’t believe you deserve financial peace as you wasted money in the past. The human ego demands that “bad” people don’t receive “good” things. You live your beliefs.

Becoming aware of your desires, your true intentions, your obstacles and the necessary action steps give you clarity and the inspiration to do what’s needed to clear the way for what you want. Create room for yourself to contemplate, to imagine and to feel your desires, and then get out of the way for allowing.
