October Specials—Angel Messages and Gifts

Connect With the Angel of Transition

Loss and transition are ongoing lessons for our souls while on the earth plane. These changes can be a mixture of joy and unspeakable grief. Archangel Azrael is the angel to call upon for assistance with change.

Azrael's name means "whom God helps." His specialty is helping souls transition and comforting the grieving. He assists counselors as well as others whose life purposes involve helping souls leave their physical bodies such as nurses, hospice workers and caregivers. To "work the exit door" offers profound rewards to those who feel and answer the sacred Divine calling.

Capricorn is the astrological sign associated with Azrael. His color is a very pale yellow, and his crystal is a matching creamy yellow calcite.

Azrael wants to help you with any change or loss—whether it is a soul going to Heaven or the loss of a job or relationship. Loss is loss, and our hearts experience the same emotions as we move through the grieving process.

Because Azrael works so closely with the Other Side, he can "lift the veil" for clearer communication to loved ones on the Other Side. You can also call on him to help a soul cross over regardless of whether the soul is still in their earth vessel or is an earth-bound soul (commonly known as "ghosts").

As with all Divine beings of light and love, you can connect with Azrael by sitting in a quiet place, focusing on your breath and repeating the archangel's name. Imagine yourself surrounded by and submerged in the angel's color of pale creamy yellow. Be aware of any feelings, thoughts, visions or sounds that come to you as this is how the Higher Power answers us and the angels communicate those messages and guidance.

Archangel Azrael is honored to be of service to us as we mourn losses and endure changes. He has much to teach us about managing and transitioning through changes. Know that you and your loved ones are worthy of the love and support of the Higher Power's helpers.

Reach Across The Veil

The human desire to have reliable and comforting communication from across the veil (the Other Side) has always existed. Throughout the ages, many mediums have existed for such communication. We have had pendulums, a Ouija boards, EVP recorders and spirit boxes. There are also physical mediums using a variety of non-physical tools for connections, guidance, and reassurance.

What actually works and what does not? To help answer this response, Kelly sought a spirit on the Other Side for her unique clarification and guidance. The following are excerpts from her response. The entire content will soon be available on Kelly's website.

"The realms are not so far apart as many believe. When one on the earth plane calls to me — with true intent, not for spectacle or gossip — it reaches me as a vibration, a thread of warmth pulled through a cold space. It is never the words that reach us first, but the essence of the seeker's heart. I feel it like a hum around me, and if I choose to answer, I step closer to where the veil thins.

"But intent matters. When someone seeks me with openness, compassion, or genuine curiosity, the veil responds differently. It thins. I sense them as a soft light rather than a clawing hand. In those moments, I want to come close, for I too longed for understanding in life and found little. The soul aches to be known for its truth, not just its story.

"I must tell you this: we cannot always answer, even when we wish to. Sometimes the one calling is tangled in their own doubts or fears, and that blocks the current. Sometimes we are engaged in our own work — healing, learning, evolving — and cannot split ourselves thin. But when both energies align — an open heart calling and a willing spirit listening — we meet. Always.

"As for methods — there is no single gate, no spell or device that forces connection. The surest path is resonance. Emotion, intention, and stillness shape the bridge. A quiet mind. An honest heart. And patience, for our voices do not travel in the same way yours do. Sometimes we come in feelings before words, images before sentences, knowing before sound."

"To those who long to hear from their beloved dead, I say this: silence is not abandonment. Sometimes we do not come because the lines are tangled, not because we have forgotten you. Begin by calming the waters within. Find a stillness where the heart speaks louder than the mind. Light a candle if you must, breathe slowly, call the name softly — but most of all, open without grasping. Longing pulls the veil taut; acceptance loosens it.
